

 SEARCH

THE AUSTERITY KITCHEN
BY CHRISTINE BAUMGARTHUBER

Where the alimentary is elementary.

Previously by
CHRISTINE BAUMGARTHUBER

- Coweye Burgers and Plastic Malts*
- Dinner with Caligula*
- A Contrary Image of Steaming Excrement*

Stomaching Inequality

By CHRISTINE BAUMGARTHUBER

THE FOOT OF THE RAINBOW.

JUST where the rainbow touches
the meadow,
Casting a beautiful tinted shadow,
A big pot of gold may surely be found,
By digging a little way into the ground.

When any boy gets where the rainbow is,
A big pot of gold may surely be his.
Though far you may run, you can never behold
The foot of the bow and the big pot of gold.

“Society comprises two classes: those who have more food than appetite, and those who have more appetite than food.”
— Nicolas Chamfort, Maximes et Pensées (ca. 1760-1790)

August 15, 2012

Illustration from Edward Willet's Cats Cradle: Rhymes for Children (1881)